Market Overview

July saw an increased level of volatility in global equity and bond markets as the continued Greek drama, the Chinese equity market gyrations and the speculation around timing of a US interest rate increase all adding to investor concern.

Developed markets were generally positive for the month as the MSCI World index rose 1.7%, the US equity market rose 2.1%, Germany 3.3%, the UK 2.7% and Japan 1.7%. Emerging markets fared significantly worse during the month as the MSCI Emerging market index fell 7.3%. The dramatic 14.3% decline in the Chinese equity market and some country specific issues contributed to investors shying away from this segment of global equity markets. The Russian and Brazilian markets were particularly weak, declining 8.6% and 6.0% respectively.

The dollar "DXY" index, which tracks the dollar against a basket of US trading partners' currencies, rose 1.8%. The euro declined 2.0% against the dollar and the yen 1.6%. Emerging currencies fared far worse; the rand declined 4.7% against the dollar, the rouble 6.5% and the Brazilian real 7.9%.

July was a dramatic month for commodities with significant declines seen in virtually every major commodity. The 16.0% decline in the oil price was the most significant with an Iran nuclear deal likely to result in further supply to an oversupplied market. The price of gold declined 7.1%, silver 6.8% and platinum 8.7%. Most other base metals declined around 8%, too, while the CRB Commodity index ended July down 9.9% to its lowest levels in over 13 years. Soft commodities didn't fare much better with Corn falling 9.4%, soybeans 6.0% and sugar 9.9%.

Local market returns

Turning to the South African equity market, the All Share index (Alsi) ended the month 0.5% higher. The Basic materials index recorded its third down month in a row, losing 5.2%. The Gold index fell 21.9% bringing its 2015 return so far to -30.0%. The Financial index fared fairly well despite the weaker rand, ending the month 3.8% higher and the Industrial index rose 1.2%. The All Bond index also managed quite well in the face of the weak rand and a 0.25% increase in the repo rate; it rose 1.0% in July.

Monthly fund returns

During July the Maestro Balanced Fund's NAV increased 1.1% versus the Fund's benchmark return of 1.1%. The Maestro Equity Prescient Fund increased 0.2% versus the 0.5% increase in the All Share index. The Prescient Income Provider Fund returned 1.1% against its benchmark of 0.6%. The Prescient Bond QuantPlus Fund returned 1.1% versus its benchmark return of 1.0%.

Central Park Global Balanced Fund returned 5.5% in rand terms relative to the 6.1% return in its benchmark.

Units in linked insurance policies should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Unit prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (Brokerage, Securities Transfer Tax, VAT, Auditor's fees, Bank Charges, Custodian fees and the annual Management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of any underlying international investments to go up and down. Forward pricing is used. Maestro Investment Management (Pty) Limited and Prescient Life Limited are members of the Association for Savings and Investments of South Africa (ASISA).
