Market Overview

November saw gradual increases in developed market equities on their way to new highs, while bond yields edge ever lower to new lows. Notable events during the month include the downgrade of South Africa's sovereign credit rating by Moody's sighting anaemic economic growth prospects and rising government debt. Internationally the decision by OPEC to keep the current oil production output quota unchanged at 30 million barrels a day played havoc in the oil market. The price of Brent crude declined 18.3% during the month and is down 36.2% over the past year.

Within equity markets, the MSCI Emerging Market index fell 1.1%, underperforming the MSCI World index which rose 1.8%. Within developed markets, the German and Japanese markets led with gains of 7.0% and 6.4%. The US market was also strong rising 2.7%. Within emerging markets Chinese equities led with an impressive 10.9% gain and the Indian market rose 3.0%. The Russian and Brazilian markets underperformed, returning -8.4% and 0.1%.

Developed market bonds were strong during the month as a number of European sovereign bond prices reached all-time highs. The Emerging Market All Bond Index fell 0.9%, underperforming the Barcap Global Aggregate index's decline of 0.4%. On the currency front, the dollar was generally firm, it gained 0.5% against the euro, 2.1% against sterling and 5.9% against the yen. The rand recorded a flat performance against the dollar for the month. Commodity prices continued their weakness with the S&P Goldman Sachs Commodity Index falling 4.9%, its 5th straight month of declines. The index has declined 19.0% so far in 2014.

Market returns

Turning attention to the local market, bonds outperformed equities substantially for a third month in a row, with the All Bond index rising 2.6% versus the 0.5% gain on the All Share index. Within the equity space there were, however, again some notable deviations between sectors. The financial and industrial indices rose 3.0% and 2.1% during the month, while the basic materials index ended down 3.2%. The gold index rose by an eye-catching 11.4%. This, however, needs to be seen in the context of a 37.5% decline in the prior two months. The mid and small cap indices ended the month 5.4% and 1.0% higher.

Monthly fund returns

During November the Maestro Balanced Fund's NAV was increased 1.0% versus 0.9% return of the Fund benchmark. The return on the Maestro Equity Fund was 1.0% versus the 0.5% return of the All Share Index. The Prescient Income Provider Fund returned 0.4% against its benchmark of 0.5%. The Prescient Bond QuantPlus Fund returned 1.7% against its benchmark of 2.4%.

The Central Park Global Balanced Fund returned 1.3% in rands against its benchmark of 1.0%.

Units in linked insurance policies should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Unit prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (Brokerage, Securities Transfer Tax, VAT, Auditor's fees, Bank Charges, Custodian fees and the annual Management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of any underlying international investments to go up and down. Forward pricing is used. Maestro Investment Management (Pty) Limited and Prescient Life Limited are members of the Association for Savings and Investments of South Africa (ASISA).
