Market Overview

The investment landscape and environment are changing rapidly, and are full of disparate forces, each pulling in their own direction. Responses to the global pandemic have had a mixed effect, economies have rebounded at differing speeds, and idiosyncratic issues like the US election and the ongoing Sino-US tech Cold War haven't added any comfort or visibility into the future. Yet markets continue to rise strongly, and bond yields reach new lows. With the unprecedented monetary policy relief flooding markets with liquidity and fiscal support sure to follow, equity markets have gathered a new lease of life and now find themselves as "the only game in town".

The dollar, lost 4.2% in July, which in turn boosted other currencies, especially emerging market ones. The rand gained 2.0% against the greenback, the Aussie dollar 4.2% and the Brazilian real 5.5%. The euro was firm, ending 5.3% higher on the month. The weak dollar laid the platform for firmer commodity prices: gold and platinum prices ended up 10.5% and 9.6% respectively while silver rose 29.4% on the month. The oil price rose 3.5%, while the base metal and soft commodity price complexes were all firm.

The MSCI Emerging Market index rose 8.4% versus the MSCI World index 4.7% – the latter has now risen 24.4% in the last 4 months! The MSCI Emerging Market is up 27.1% over the same period, while the NASDAQ is up an astonishing 39.6%. The Chinese equity market rose 10.9%, and the Brazilian and Indian markets ended 8.3% and 7.7% higher respectively. The Hong Kong market turned in another disappointing monthly return of only 0.7% while the UK fell 4.4%.

Local market returns

The firm gold price supported the Gold index, which rose 23.2% on the month. The Basic Materials sector was firm, ending up 9.1%, while the Financial sector gained only 0.4%. The Industrial sector lost 1.3%. The Large, Mid, and Small Cap indices rose 2.4%, 1.7%, and 1.3% respectively. We have already noted the rand's strength – it rose 2.0% against a weak dollar – and the All Bond index rose 0.7%. It is noteworthy that the All Share index, which rose 2.6% in July, is down only 0.7% so far this year. Investments which disappointed during the month included Aspen, which ended the month 7.7% lower. Richemont lost 3.5%, and Ninety One 2.1%. On a more positive note, Standard Bank rose 3.9%, Billiton 4.0%, Discovery 6.0%, Afrimat 7.9%, and Cashbuild 12.1% although the latter is still down 28.9% so far this year.

Units in linked insurance policies should be considered as medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go up as well as down and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Unit prices are calculated on a net asset basis, which is the total value of all the assets in the portfolio including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions (Brokerage, Securities Transfer Tax, VAT, Auditor's fees, Bank Charges, Custodian fees and the annual Management fee) from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of any underlying international investments to go up and down. Forward pricing is used. Maestro Investment Management (Pty) Limited and 27Four Life Limited are members of the Association for Savings and Investments of South Africa (ASISA).
